

Dear Local Group Representatives,

As you already know there will sadly be no AGS Shows, either real or on-line, this Spring. However you will see in the link below details of a new and very different Competition that takes place next week between 23rd and 27th March.

<https://www.alpinegardensociety.net/news/rock-plants-in-flower-competition/>

Ben Parmee and I have been asked to circulate this to all Local Groups with a request that you pass it on it both to your members and any other friends or gardening contacts who might be interested in entering. The competition is easy to enter via Twitter and open to everyone, not just AGS members. The hope is that it will reach a very wide audience and raise the Society's profile in a wider population that our normal activities do not easily reach.

Full details are in the link and the associated Terms and Conditions, including how to open a Twitter account for those who do not have one. If the Competition is a success it is possible that others will follow as the season progresses so any help you can give will be greatly appreciated..

Best wishes

David Charlton
Local Group Representative - North and East England